Ontario reunion

Orser family tree traced

SYDENHAM — A gathering here of international significance marked the first Orser family reunion in Ontario. The festive occasion began with a bountiful noon picnic dinner on the beautiful camp grounds of the Holiness Church.

The event drew family members from as far as the Atlantic and Pacific coasts on the east and west, and as far south as Florida and Texas.

It was the third in a series of such Orser gatherings during July. The others were in Hartland, New Brunswick and North Tarrytown, New York State.

Dr. Daniel Turner, Cranston, Rhode Island, author of a book detailing the illustrious family history over the past three centuries, briefly reviewed the historical highlights.

He pointed out the progenitor of this now widespread clan was Aert Willenszen, a Dutch settler, who came to New Amsterdam, the present site of New York City in 1650. He traced 23 variant spellings of the family name before the present Orser evolved about the time of the American revolution.

He noted there are now at least one million descendants of this early pioneer settler on the North American continent.

With the coming of the United Empire Loyalists to Canada, William Orser and Joseph Orser brought the family name northward, William going to New Brunswick and Joseph heading for Ontario.

Tragedy overtook the Ontario-bound party at Sorel, Que., with the death of Joseph. However, his widow and sons continued the journey and eventually reached Kingston.

Dr. G. C. Lindsay of Kingston, also a specialist in genealogy, pointed out the widow and her fatherless family arrived July 1, 1784. They were given turnip seed, the only vegetable suitable for planting so late in the season, which they planted on a plot of land, now the site of St. Mary's Cathedral.

Despite the late planting, the turnips grew well and were life savers for the family the following winter, during which they endured many hardships. They eventually settled on the third concession in Kingston Township, establishing the family farm there.

Earl H. Orser, Toronto, president of the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., expressed appreciation of learning the family history and of meeting many of his relatives for the first time.

Frank Orser, Shawnee, Kansas, assistant state director of the Good Samaritan Club, brought greetings on behalf of the American branch of the family.

Lawson Orser, Elginburg, recently retired from a successful career as a high school teacher, department head and vice-principal, served as chairman of the Ontario family reunion committee. As master of ceremonies for the program he introduced other members of his committee: Mrs. Beverley Leach, secretary-treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Orser, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Orser, Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Webster Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Calder, Mrs. Velma Buck, Harry Orser and Douglas Orser.

Rev. Elwood Orser, Belleville, delivered the invocation.

Gordon Orser, a member of Frontenac County Board of Education, drew attention to the extensive display of pictures, documents and other Orser memorabilia, along with the huge banner, obtained by Lawson Orser.

Webster Walker displayed two cane bottom chairs made by local Indians, passed on to him by his mother, the late Mrs. Charles Walker, the former Della Orser. The chairs were wedding gifts to her aunt, Mary Orser, on the occasion of Mary Orser's marriage to James Dougherty of Elginburg in March of 1851.

There were a number of prizes for special distinctions. Three were awarded for those coming the greatest distance, with the recipients — Mrs. Elizabeth Dunsby, Powell River, B.C.; Mrs. L. Keller, Kelowna, B.C. and Wilfred Orser, Kelowna, B.C. The oldest woman in attendance — Mrs. Edith Burnett, 92; the oldest man, Oscar Lindsay, 82, and youngest person present, Michele Jackson, eight months.

'Grandma Kenny'

She will be missed

ODESSA — The community has lost one of its best known citizens.

Catherine Ellen Kenny, 103, better known as Grandma Kenny to residents of Lenadeo Home for the Aged in Napanee, died last week. She would have been 104 in September.

Mrs. Kenny had lived in Lenadeo since September 1971. The home's director, Walt Gerow said, "she was an outstanding lady."

"She used to read the Whig-Standard from cover to cover," he said. "Up until six months ago she crocheted and knitted.

"She had all her faculties right up until the end," he some of the residents down on Saturday and some on Sunday."

The reason for the extended celebrations, was the number of people who she wouldn't go out of the home on a Friday."

Why she kept this practice, he didn't know. It might have been a superstition, he said "but it was just something she'd always done."

"We used to say, 'it's Friday, Mrs. Kenny won't be going anywhere,'" he said.

When she wasn't out and about, she was an avid Archie Bunker fan and a teller-of-stories. "I guess if you live to be a hundred and three a lot of things happen in life that you can talk about," said Mr. Gerow.

"She had quite a sense of humor."

But with humor, Grandma Kenny also had a light touch

Roy Bulloch tops exhibitors

DELTA — Gentle Jerseys, the beautiful brown Channel Island breed of dairy cattle were in the limelight at Delta Fair, Wednesday.

Roy Bulloch and Sons, Dunroamin Jersey Farm, RR 4 Landowne and Bruce Teepell Maple Park Farm, RR 1 Elgin, shared the awards. Bulloch entries won the premier exhibition award with Mr. Teepell taking the premier breeder award in the parish show.

The grand champion cow "Bradken Nettie" had a princess to lead her — the owner's daughter, pretty Debbie Bulloch, Eastern Ontario and Quebec Jersey Princess. Reserve grand champion cow also came from the Bulloch herd.

The Haydon Stanton Memorial Trophy for best junior herd was also captured by Mr. Bulloch, with Mr. Teepell placing in reserve position.

In the open Jersey classes, a Bulloch heifer was named junior champion with Stanley Kerr, Campbellford, having reserve junior champion.

In a draw for a side of beef, sponsored by Leeds and Grenville Jersey Club, and provided by Lansdowne Food Lockers, the winner was Miss Gwen Prue, an employee of Lansdowne Post office.

In Ayrshire cattle, Allan and Bill Kerr, Campbellford shared the prizes.

Ralph Milles, RR 1, Renfrew, had a clean sweep in Shorthorns in the beef cattle division, with Menzie Storey also of Renfrew, the only Hereford exhibitor. In exotic breeds, Lawrence Lalonde, Brockville showing Charolais, was the lone exhibitor.

Jurisdictional dispute over fire protection

PICTON — A meeting between the Town of Picton fire committee and representatives from Hallowell Township and the Village of Bloomfield, will have to be rescheduled.

A meeting was called this week following a request from the Bloomfield-Hallowell Fire Department, to take over fire duties at the H. J. McFarland Memorial Home for the Aged. The MacDonald, wife of Hallowell Reeve Keith MacDonald, she inadvertently forgot to advise her husband that the fire committee had set a time for the meeting. When he did learn of it, it was too late to advise Deputy-reeve William Rutherford or Bloomfield Reeve Ben Prinzen.

The Hallowell and Bloomfield representatives say they are willing to meet with complex for the mentally retarded when Hallowell refused to turn over a portion of the $50,000 annual grant in lieu of taxes they received for providing services there. Picton had been handling calls to the complex.

According to Picton Reeve Larry Richardson, fire emergencies at the home for the aged would continue to
